Summary of reasons for decision:

The publication is a low quality video which explicitly shows a group of soldiers killing an unarmed man in a cruel manner. Consideration was given as to whether the publication requires an objectionable classification, either because of the level of extreme violence and cruelty, or because it promotes or encourages acts of terrorism to a high degree. Taking into account all relevant circumstances, it was decided that an objectionable classification was not necessary. A restriction to adults is required, because children and teens are likely to find it disturbing and upsetting to an extent that it would have a negative impact on their mental health and wellbeing. An R18 classification is a reasonable and justified limitation on the right to freedom of expression as affirmed by the New Zealand Bill of Rights Act 1990.
